AMERICAN PAINTINGS AND SCULPTURE

The following lists were first printed in the Annual Report for 1904, and have been reprinted in each succeeding year. Through their publication, it was desired to call attention to the names of painters and sculptors, whose works, necessary to a complete study of American art, were, in some cases, not at all represented in the Museum collections, and, in others, incompletely, in the hope that works by these artists distinctly representative in character and quality might be located and perhaps secured. The Trustees would welcome additional contributions to the information thus obtained. Already, through the agency of the lists, several works have been secured for the Museum.

The more important names are indicated by an asterisk.
